Potash

Potash is an essential plant food which must be added as a fertilizer or the soil will become exhausted, as is true of so many cotton fields.

We have books giving valuable details about fertilizers. We will send them free to any farmer who asks us for them.

Our Washington Letter.

Special Cor. of The Enterprise.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Many of the Democrats as well as Republicans in Congress are ripping mad at the President of the United States because he has done something that they consider reprehensible, and this is the story in brief: Several months ago the president sent two agents or commissioners to the Indian Territory to investigate the stories of corruption and rottenness down there among the Federal officials. They went, made the investigation and reported to the president through the secretary of the interior. Their report has been in the hands of the president for more than a month, and some three weeks ago the house, by resolution, asked the president for the report. At that time the Indian appropriation bill was under consideration, and the house wanted some information on the report that there was rottenness in the Territory. They got none and the bill was passed by the house and then passed by the senate and has been signed by the president. Now, after the thing has become the law, the president sends in the report of his agents who investigated the stories of corruption, and the report corroborates every charge that has been made concerning the Dawes Commission and the men who represent the government in the Indian Territory. If that report had been before the house before the Indian appropriation bill had been passed the appropriation continuing the Dawes Commission in existence would have been knocked galley west. The president, by holding that report, has continued the very men in office who, his own agents say, are corrupt and venal and should be driven from the public service. The people may draw their own conclusions.

The administration has got the daylight scared out of Wall Street and the big business interests of the country because it is going to withdraw the money from the banks of the country, deposited there by the government, to pay the opera bouffe republic of Panama for the canal strip and the French people for the canal. Everybody seems to be mortally afraid that it will create such a stringency in the money market that it will precipitate a panic. The money sharks and trusts are lying awake nights now wondering what will be the next move of the political acrobat in the White House. Well, they put him there, now let the galled jade wince. Lay on MacDuff!

Democratic national politics is again holding the boards here in the political nerve center of the nation. The so called leaders of the party in Washington are beginning to line up for some one candidate. In other words, they are beginning to see daylight and to know that they must take sides and they are getting busy. Many of them who have hitherto been opposed to William Randolph Hearst are beginning to veer around and to hedge somewhat. The fact that he is the only candidate so far who has had any delegates instructed for him leads to the conclusion that his friends and supporters all over the country mean business, and it has thrown a scare into the Parker men the size of an Iowa barn.

Fish as Brain Food.

It is often stated that fish is a food which ministers particularly to the needs of the brain because it contains phosphorus. As a matter of fact, fish does not contain more phosphorus than do ordinary meat foods, and it certainly does not contain in it the free state. The notion that fish contains phosphorus had no doubt its origin in the glowing or phosphorescence of fish in the dark. This phosphorescence is due not to phosphorus at all, but to micro-organisms. The belief, therefore, that fish is a brain food is just about as reasonable as the idea that because soup is thick and gelatinous "it will stick to the ribs," or as sensible as the celebrated advice to Verdant Green to lay in a stock of Reading biscuits to assist his reading. Fish, of course, is excellent food, partly because of the nourishing nature of its constituents and partly because of its digestibility. But it is in no sense a specific for brain or nerve.—The Lancet.

CLIFTON MILLS COMPLETED

Spindles to be Installed in Lost Pacolet Mills.

The extensive and considerable task of rebuilding three Clifton mills, whose splendid mill properties were swept away by the waters of the raging Pacolet last June, is about concluded. For weeks and weeks past President Twichell of the company has been engaged purchasing and having installed the machinery equipment at each mill. No 1 has not only been rebuilt with its former equipments, 23,072 spindles and 798 looms; but No. 2 has been finished and 27,776 spindles and 861 looms placed in shape. The first mill is already manufacturing cotton.

Mr. Twichell has closed with the Draper Loom company the contract for putting in 1,000 spindles at mill No. 3, which building is practically completed, and the roof of which will be put on next week. The number of spindles to be put in No. 3 is 35,840. Clifton No. 3 will begin operations with the next crop in manufacturing cotton goods.

Human Flesh Still Eaten in Different Parts of the World.

There are many places in the world today where cannibalism flourishes.

Scattered about the Pacific ocean are many cannibal islands where the natives eat human flesh because they like it for food. In others cannibalism is practiced as a sort of religious rite.

The natives of New Guinea are confirmed cannibals, and not long ago they killed and ate the members of an exploring party led the well known missionary and explorers, Dr. Chalmers.

Dr. Chalmers was one of the founders of Port Moseby the principal town in the British part of the island, and has done more in the way of exploring New Guinea than any other man. On his last expedition up the Fly River, the largest in New Guinea, he was at first received with all the old time respect which the natives were wont to show him, but one night they killed the whole party and ate their bodies, including that of their friend, the doctor.

Several Spanish sailors who were wrecked near the mouth of Muri River, in West Africa, were captured and eaten by the natives recently.

Today there are cannibal tribes living in many parts of South America. Such tribes inhabit that region of wilderness belonging to Colombia known as the Cacaqueta, and the brother of Gen. Rafael Reyes the special envoy of Colombia to this country in the Panama matter, was killed and eaten by some of them while attempting to cross to the head waters of the Amazon.

Some of the tribes of northern Luzon are suspected of being addicted to cannibalism. Grew some tales of cannibalistic practices are told of the woodoo worshippers of the interior of Hayti.—The Sun.
